LOVE MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND, BUT MOTOR TRUCKS DO THEIR PART

The poet covered a lot of ground when he said "love makes the world go round". Not that we would be guilty of taking any credit away from the divine passion, but even love needs motor trucks.

It's June and the June brides will be mixing reality with romance shortly after the knot is tied. That's where motor trucks come in handy. For the bride and groom need groceries, milk, coal, newspapers and the other necessities of our modern life.

Who sees to it that they get these things promptly? Motor trucks of course. Almost everything they eat or wear or use have been speeded by motor truck. Whn the poet wrote those lines no doubt he had in mind the place motor trucks occupy. Perhaps he didn't want to mix gasoline and romance or love and lubricating oil. But if he was a smart poet he undoubtedly thought of it.

TT'S GRATIFYING these days to be able to I think of something that hasn't gone up in price since the war. It's even pleasanter to know that one of the real necessities of life not only hasn't gone up in price; but is actually very cheap.

That vital necessity is water. The average family of four spends around a nickel a day for an abundant supply of pure, dependable water, conveniently delivered to the very place in your home where and when you need it.

Even though the cost of producing and delivering that water has risen, like almost everything else, you are still getting the same amount for the same low price you paid before the war.

Mr. McGivelry Makes Vacation Suggestions

Horatius Q. McGiverly (of the Spring Hill McGiverlys) was in our garage today. Said Mr. McGiverly, as he borrowed a pipeful from our hydromatic expert, "it's June m'lad and everybody is thinking about vacations. Seashore resorts, mountain hideouts, lake cabins, all of them have their attraction and a fellow should see as many of them as he could,

"But" continued Mr. McGiverly, "a fellow is less than a smart lad if he starts out on a trip without getting his car put into condition." Which of course is right as can be. Before you start on that trip, why not be sure the family bus won't balk before you get back. Bring your car in for a checkup before you start out. You'll never be sorry. And thank you Mr. McGiverly.

Children Give Silver Dollar To Food Drive

Touching Donation Made To Little Girl in Picture By New Castle Tots

Because they could understand the look of bewilderment and want on the face of a young girl on a food collection poster, two small children of New Castle recently mailed a silver dollar to Richard Rentz fund chairman of the Emergency Food Collection to "buy some food for this little girl." This touching contribution came from the children of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ferris, 1207 Albert street. They are Jane, aged 5, and Bill, aged four. A note inclosed by their mother said that the picture had caused the tots many tears and they wanted to help in the shipment of food to the world's starving.
